

Chris R. Smith, DVM
Michael A. Betz, DVM
Patrick J. Ford, VMD
Rocky M. Mason, DVM

January 27, 2022

Lexington Equine Medical Group

Seasonal Ambulatory Veterinary Technician Position

Lexington Equine Medical Group is an equine veterinary practice that seeks to fill an opening for an ambulatory equine veterinary technician during the 2022 breeding season.

Responsibilities will include traveling to various farms throughout the Lexington area and assisting the veterinarian with a variety of procedures that include breeding management, radiography, foal medicine, lameness examinations & emergency calls. Technicians are also responsible for stocking the vehicle, recording medical records & submitting laboratory work.

Schedule: Monday- Saturday with variable hours, more hours available if desired. This is a seasonal position from February through July.

Qualifications: Equine experience, good interpersonal skills, the desire to learn and valid driver's license.

Please submit all resumes to kwurst@lexingtonequinemedical.com